

ERICA D. DELOATCH

The Coalition for Public Safety Training in Schools, Inc.

Mrs. Erica Deloatch is currently employed at ManTech International Corporation, where she has over fifteen years of experience as a contractor. Since December 2015, Mrs. Deloatch has been working on the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) contract, as a Senior Program Analyst in the Science and Technology, Test and Evaluation division. Her office is responsible for establishing T&E policies, providing independent T&E oversight of major DHS acquisition programs, training the DHS T&E workforce, and advancing the T&E state-of-the-art within DHS.

Mrs. Deloatch worked on the U.S. Department of Navy contract from 2012-2015, as a Management & Logistics Support Specialist, where she maintained various correspondence records pertaining to the Integrated Logistics Support team, conducted departmental training sessions and conferences, ensured daily compliance, and managed the taxonomy of the team's SharePoint system with regulatory requirements.

Prior to converting to the contracting world, Mrs. Deloatch served in the capacity of customer and administrative service for over ten years, working with Fannie Mae and the District of Columbia Water and Sewer Authority. Mrs. Deloatch worked as the Executive Assistant for the Vice President for Corporate Tax (Fannie Mae) and Customer Service Analyst for the meter reading division (DC Water and Sewer). She is extremely cultivated and has a plethora of experience, both in the private and public sector.

Mrs. Deloatch is a senior at Morgan State University, pursuing her Bachelor of Science degree in Interdisciplinary Studies in Societal Equity and Urbanism, where she is expected to graduate fall 2023.
